

Corinne Saunders
CEO of Emerging & Developing Markets
Wolters Kluwer

Corinne Saunders is CEO Emerging & Developing Markets since 2013. In this role, she is responsible for establishing a long-term presence in key emerging markets, particularly in India, China, Latin America, Middle East, and Africa.

Before joining us, Corinne was President of Europe and the Worldwide Network partners at Dun & Bradstreet and since 2002 held different roles at D&B, gaining extensive knowledge of emerging markets, overseeing the expansion of the franchise network across Asia Pacific, EMEA, and Latin America. She has a strong track record of expanding businesses across multiple territories, spotting new opportunities and developing these into viable, scalable businesses. Prior to D&B, Corinne held executive positions with American Express where she was responsible for different aspects of business development.

She holds a degree in Political Science and Languages from Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Grenoble and an MBA from HEC School of Management in Paris.
