Meg Geldens joined Wolters Kluwer in 2012 as Vice President Investor Relations. Meg is responsible for our ongoing dialogue with the investment community. Her remit includes developing the messaging and communicating this by way of our regular financial reporting, the Investor section of our website, and through a program of events throughout the year, including analyst meetings, investor seminars, conferences and roadshows.

Prior to joining Wolters Kluwer, Meg Geldens was a European Media analyst for 17 years, covering the Publishing & Information sector for Credit Suisse, Goldman Sachs, Merrill Lynch and other sell-side firms. She also worked as a management consultant with Booz Allen & Hamilton and as CFO of an electronic publishing start-up.

Meg holds an MBA from Columbia Business School, New York, and a Bachelor’s degree in Government from Dartmouth College, New Hampshire.